To Glorify God ♦ To Grow in Faith ♦ To Give in Service ♦ Together in Christ

www.gracelutheranhatfield.org Rev. Nancy M. Raabe, Pastor

FROM THE PASTOR: Free Will, or Faith?

Awake, my soul! Awake, harp and lyre! I will awaken the dawn. (Psalm 57:8-9)

We all have a routine for beginning our day. Perhaps quiet reflection, journaling, prayer, a bit of reading. Then for me it is making my daily to-do list. I use index cards to remember everything I want to get done that day and carry it around with me. Sometimes I get through the list; sometimes tasks get carried over to the next day or the next. But each morning I choose what my daily tasks will be. Or...do I?

A new book by neurobiologist Robert Sapolsky of Stanford University says: No, you don't. In Determined: A Science of Life Without Free Will, he argues that there is no free will. We do not freely make choices. Other factors bred into us determine everything that we do.

I suppose there could be something to this. For an unknown reason, I'm someone who needs to have things well ordered. When I leave the office at the end of the day my desk must be cleared off and everything put in its place. I'm one of those people who must have the stapler lined up perfectly with the paper clip holder and my pen poised for the next day's action. I don't run with wild impulses (although that could be more fun).

After decades of studying humans and primates, Sapolsky decided that all human behavior is beyond our conscious control. Instead, he claims that neurochemical influences govern everything we do. We may think we are choosing to do something, he says, but we are not. Every decision, every action is a result of brain functioning that has been conditioned by genetics, environment, and other factors. His conclusion is that free will is a myth. He claims that "The world is really screwed up and made much, much more unfair by the fact that we reward people and punish people for things they have no control over. We've got no free will. Stop attributing stuff to us that isn't there."

People who know a lot about neurobiology might go along with some of this. Yes, our upbringing and environment shape how we see the world and react to it. But...everything? We actually do not choose our life partners? Our vocations? Our vacations? That what we do when worship is over, either go left to exit, or turn right and come to the coffee hour (by the way, please choose this...if you can) is preordained? That biological and neurological factors beyond our awareness determine every choice we make?

Where the well-being of humankind is concerned, losing the conviction of free will and moral responsibility could be cataclysmic. At the very least it would promote cheating on tests, becoming careless in one's work, and giving free rein to aggressive impulses – the only guiding principle being, “So what?” In religious life this is the equivalent of placing all your eggs in the basket of what Dietrich Bonhoeffer called “cheap grace.” If I'm forgiven no matter what, then what does it matter what I do? Taking it to an extreme, one could say then what's the point of doing anything? Or of living at all? You can see what a dangerous road this would take us down. Because in the very fiber of our being we know that doing nothing is the worst option: All it takes for evil to triumph is that good people do nothing.

What if we were to reframe the entire question? Instead of seeing human life as a matter of choices or the lack of them, what if we considered our lives to be wrapped in the mantle of faith? That everything we do is an expression of the faith that grows in our hearts because we believe in Jesus Christ?

We already know that “if you confess with your lips that Jesus is Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, then you will be saved” (Romans 10:9). Doesn't this govern our approach to every human interaction and every situation that we encounter? Whose choice is it, then, about what to do in a given situation? Not yours, but God's. How can you take that stack of hundred-dollar bills that you found in the street (which we heard about in church on Oct. 22) and stuff them in your pocket, believing them to be yours? You can't. Someone lost them, and God always finds what is lost. God is just using you to help return them. In every situation, God is using you to do the work of the kingdom.

Our seniors, who we celebrated on the culminating week of our October pledge drive, can help us with this. When by the grace of God we reach what we call senior age, I think we naturally develop a reflective approach to life steeped in gratitude. We have been given 70 years, or perhaps 80, to quote the psalmist. From there we can look back and grasp how our lives unfolded in a way that we now see was perfectly in accordance with God's will, even though at times we may have felt those choices were random or even confused.

If we can learn from our seniors to focus the lens of faith on our lives, we will see that God is guiding our every step. Our will and God's will are one. My own life is one of twists and turns that appeared to be incomprehensible until I learned to view them through this lens of faith. All those detours in fact led to where I am at this moment, talking with you. What's interesting is that most of those twists and turns were not conscious choices. Things just happened, and I went along. But now I can see that God was leading me the entire time even through what I long believed to be missteps. They weren't.

So should we give up on free will, let go of the idea you are in control of everything you do? No. Instead, accept that the life God has given you, with its twists and turns, joys and sorrows, rejoicing and suffering, is unfolding fully within God's sight. And trust that in every circumstance God makes possible a response of faith. For it is those responses of faith that the risen Christ gives us, again and again and again, the promise of new life now and eternal life always.

May your Thanksgiving be blessed with the knowledge of God's perfect love in his Son, given for you.

Yours in the risen Christ,

Pastor Nancy Raabe

the INreach team and we would be happy to facilitate a pickup. We can also take soup that has recently been frozen. Recipes and containers will be available in the narthex starting in October.

Soup can be pre-ordered and will be $7 per quart. Minestrone, Chicken Noodle, and Split Pea will be available for purchase. Please see sign-up sheets in the narthex to ORDER soup.

FALL BIBLE STUDY: GENESIS Alternate Sundays/Wednesdays

We have begun to delve into the fascinating stories in the Book of Genesis to discover what they have to say to us thousands of years later. We are constantly being surprised at how relevant these messages are even today. Join in anytime, and if you would like to participate by Zoom, please let Pastor Raabe know ahead of time. Upcoming dates are: Wednesdays at 1 p.m., November 1, 15, and 29; Sundays at 9: November 5, 19, December 3.

WORSHIP NOTES:

- Stepping Stones Sunday is November 19 at the 10:30 service. We are celebrating this partnership with a service that features kid-friendly music plus some of our family favorites. Stepping Stones children in attendance will help sing with our choir about how "All things are possible with God," which they've been practicing in Wednesday chapel. We can also count on some vigorous dancing!
- Once again we are hosting the Hatfield Community Christmas on Saturday, December 2 here at Grace. The fun starts at 5 p.m. with a hot dog meal, hot drinks from Philly Espresso, and games and crafts for everyone. At 6 p.m. we move down to Railroad Square for carols, gathering around the fire pits and Christmas toy handouts. Then Santa appears and the tree is lit at 6:30 p.m.! (Sorry, this year Pals for Life is not able to do the pet pictures with Santa.) Pick up a flyer at church and spread the word.
- All ages are invited to our Advent Family Night on December 9 from 5-7:30 p.m. We'll first gather for family take-home crafts and ornament decorating. We will then feast on a nutritious meal and move into the sanctuary to decorate the room and trim the tree!
- Please join us for The Longest Night ("Blue Christmas") at 7 p.m. on Thursday, December 21, the winter solstice. This quiet, reflective service is designed for those dealing with difficult health or life situations for whom the merriment of the traditional Christmas festivities may not be appealing.
- Heads up for December 24: Because this falls on a Sunday this year, the date is BOTH Advent 4 and Christmas Eve. Please do not choose one over the other, but make plans to attend both since Advent 4 is a very special day that leads us into the birth of our Savior. That morning we will have one service only at 9:15, and two Christmas Eve services only at 4 and 9 p.m. (no 6:30 service this year).

WELCA (Women of the ELCA)

Ladies, November 1st is our next meeting we will be doing Christmas cards for our Homebound members which, as you know, these will be going along with the Christmas cookies from INreach. You don't need to bring any cards we have plenty. I know this seems early but we will be doing something special in December. Hope to see you. Take care, Barb

Stepping Stones News

Happy Fall, y'all! We're kicking off the month of November with our annual door decorating contest! Voting will be open throughout the month of November (for church members too!) Feel free to check out our doors and vote for your favorite---the winning class gets a snack party of their choice! We are also excited to celebrate Pizza Day on 11/14, and absolutely cannot wait for Stepping Stones Sunday on 11/19 at the 10:30am service! We stay busy all month so don't forget to check back with us for the Thanksgiving Feast (the last day to vote for the door decorating contest) and remember that we are closed 11/23 and 11/24 for Thanksgiving. Finally, we will wrap up the month with Cookies with a Cop on 11/29 at 10am as Officer McCoy of the Hatfield Police Department will join us to read a story with the kids and enjoy some cookies as we learn about how important our Police are and how they're someone we can go to for help, too!

Annual Coat Drive

Our Annual Coat Drive has two aspects this year. First, our Stepping Stones families need coats for their children. We will be collecting coats here at Grace for that purpose for babies through preschool until Thanksgiving. Please place those in the bins in the narthex.

Second, we are helping to support the families of the Hatfield food cupboards with gift cards that can go toward children's coats or clothing. Monetary gifts may be made out to the Church of the Brethren and addressed to Pastor Clay Moyer, 1333 Cowpath Road, Hatfield, PA 19440. Thank you for your continued support of all the families in our community.

Christmas Poinsettias will be available for decoration of our Chancel. Orders are now being taken. Forms can be found in the Narthex and at the end of the newsletter. Deadline for ordering is Sunday, 12/3/23. Questions contact Kathy Stawasz 215-760-6297. Thank you.

Adopt-A-Family Christmas Project 2023

Christmas and gifts to give!! During the Advent season we anticipate God's greatest gift - Jesus. Each year we look forward to and prepare for the celebration of his birth. However, for some families in our community, it is a time of concern about providing daily needs.

The Giving in Service team invites you to help provide gifts to families in our area to allow them to celebrate a traditional family Christmas and to experience sharing gifts with their family. This year we will be sharing our gifts with several families from Stepping Stones.

We hope you will plan on doing some Christmas shopping for our families this year. Watch for the display in the narthex in November. Suggested items for each family will be available for your choosing. We encourage you to shop as you do now – online or in stores. You may also choose to do gift cards as well.

Angel gifts will be collected for the Hatfield Christmas Committee for area families including the families we support. A list of items is included below and will also be available near the display in the narthex. These items cannot be purchased with food stamps and are personal items needed by families that are serviced by our area food cupboards. Your items may be brought to church anytime. Ending date for both our Adopt-a-Family and the angel gifts will be Sunday Dec. 17th.

What a wonderful way to begin the Advent Season by giving to one of our families.

The Giving in Service Team – Jean Shaffer, Diane Ball, Carol MacDonald, Barb Watts, Cathy Farrell, Mary Jane Moyer, Kay Deussing, and Kay Stone
